Joint Fences.

AN ACT regulating Joint Fences in Queen Ann's and Talbot Counties.

Section 1, Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That whenever joint fences have or may be established in Queen Ann's and Talbot counties, for the mutual benefit and advantage of different owners or possessors of adjoining lands, it shall be the duty of each party to keep up in good repair, his, her or their just and respective proportion thereof, in the manner following, that is to say, all post and rail or plank fences, shall be at least four and a half feet high, and all worm or other fences shall be at least five feet high, the distance in every case to be computed from the ground or base of any embankment upon which said fence may be plated,

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That if either of the parties so making or keeping a joint fence, shall not comply with the foregoing provision and shall refuse or delay to repair the said fence within twenty days after notice in writing shall be given to the said party, his agent or overseer, then upon proof thereof, before a Justice of the peace, it shall be lawful for the said Justice under his hand and seal, to authorise the party aggrieved, and suffering by such refusal or delay, to repair the said fence as above required, and for so doing shall be reimbursed, all costs and reasonable expenses necessarily incurred, to be recovered from the party so refusing or delaying, in the same manner as debts of alike amount are now recoverable.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That in case joint fences are not made and kept in repair according to the provisions of this act it shall also be lawful for the party aggrieved, or likely to be injured, instead of pursuing the remedy above allowed, to discontinue the said fence, upon giving three months notice in manner aforesaid and in all other cases (unless by mutual consent,) twelve months notice shall be required to discontinue any Joint fence.

DEATH BY LIGHTNING.—On Tusday evening last Mr. Elisha Mahony was struck dead by lightning whilst standing in the door of his dwelling, near North East, in the county. No damage was done to the house or any other of the inmates He has left a wife and several children to lament his suden and unexpected death.—

Women.

The Countess of Blessington in her Journal of Conversations with Lord Byron' has the following remarks; How few men understand the feelings of women. Sensitive, and easily wounded as we are, obliged to call up pride to support us in trials that always leave fearful marks behind, how often are we compelled to assume the semblance of coldness and indifference when the heart inly bleeds and the decent composure, put on with our visiting garments to appear in public, are like them worn for a few hours, and with them laid aside; and all the dreariness, the heart consuming care that woman alone can know, return to make us feel that though we may disguise our sufferings from others, and deck our countenance with smiles, we cannot decive our selves, and are but the more miserable from the constraint we submit to.

A woman only can understand a womans heart—we cannot, dare not complain—sympathy is denied us because we must not lay open the wounds that excite it: and even the most legitimate feelings are too sacred to female estimation to be exposed—and while we curse the grief that lies too deep for tears and comes alike health and peace a man may with impunity express all nay more than he feels—court and meet sympathy, while his leisure hours are cheered by occupations and pleasures, the latter too often, & such as ought to prove how little he stood in need of compassion except for his vices.

Counterfeiting on a small scale.

We were shown a day or two since a new article. It was nothing more nor less than a cast iron cent Several of them have been passed upon one of our merchants during the present week.—This we believe is the latest article in the line of notions.

MR. CLAY'S COMPROMISE.

Opinions Abroad.—We learn from late English papers that Mr. Clay's Tariff Bill is not so acceptable to the British Manufacturers, as the bill of the administration, brought forward by Mr. Verplanck—nay some of the friends of free trade on the other side of the water assert that it is worse for them than the tariff of '32. We annex an article from a late number of the Leeds Mercury, received by the Monongahela. Let the American manufacturer read it, and blush for the abuse which some of his co-workers heaped upon Mr. Clay.

Phitad. Inq.

Mr. Clay's Tariff Bill has been smuggled through the American House of Representatives, by one of those original and startling manœuvres which distinguish that republican legislature.—The House had been all the session discussing the Tariff Bill introduced by Mr Verplanck, which went to make great reductions on imported goods—the manufacturing party struggled hard against it, and the southerns as hard in its favor: the bill had reached its third reading, when—lo! some member moved, "as an amendment," to leave out all the words after "that," and substitute for them the Tariff Bill which Mr. Clay had carried in the Senate! The motion was carried by a vote of 120 to 85—and by this most extraordinary piece of jockeyship, Mr. Clay's Bill passed in one day.

We regret to say that this bill is not only much worse than that of Mr. Verplanck, but is decidedly less liberal than that of last July. The Tariff of July, 1832, was to have come into operation on the third of March but if Mr. Clay's bill should finally pass the senate, to which house it has been returned, that Tariff will never take effect at all, except as modified by the new Bill.

By the Tariff of last year the lowest qualities of woollen goods were allowed to be introduced at a duty of five per cent. ad valorem, and great quantities of goods have gone out from the neighbourhood of Leeds and Huddersfield on the faith of that arrangement, But Mr. Clay's Bill raises the duty on those goods to fifty per cent, and every yard of the low wollens sent from England, must either pay that duty or be sent back to this country! This is a most arbitrary proceeding, and is indeed a gross breach of faith.

The other arrangements of Mr. Clay's Bill are, to let the duties fixed by the Tariff of last July remain in operation till the 31st of December next after which they are to be reduced by dribblets—one tenth of the excess of those duties over 20 per cent, ad valorem to be taken off at the year 1833, another tenth in 1837, another tenth in 1839, in 1840 one half of the remainder, one at the end of 1842 the duties are to be reduced to 20 per cent, at which they are to continue

Our Bradford and Keighley friends are almost the only persons in England who this Tariff will benefit as worsted stuff goods which have hitherto paid 20 per cent, duty, are to be admitted duty free. Linens and silks are also to go from Barnsley and Manchester.

The Middletown, (Con) Sentinel gives the following anecdote of the present King of England:—

A friend communicated the following anecdote which he had from the mouth of a gentleman who was knowing the circumstance;—The Prince, when in Boston, several years ago called at a barber's shop to get shaved. After the operation, he took the liberty to kiss the barber's pretty wife, stating to her you can now say that you have been kissed by one of royal blood.—Upon which the barber seized him by the collar, pushed him to the door, then gave him a hearty kick in the rear, telling him that he could now say that he had had a royalkick from one of republicah blood. He was probably more careful in kissing Yankee women afterwards.
