STRAY BULL:

From the United States Gazette. BROTHER JONATHAN.

A SONG. To be sung to all sorry Nullifiers of the Constitution.

Good Sirs! ye cotton planters, Thus hot, with southern ire, Your trusty brothers, banters? From the "Union" to retire Your northern kinsfolk greet you! Oh listen! whilst you can, Break not the bright chain, in two. With Brother Jonathan.

There goes a common saying. In each large family, Some sheep are ever straying. Black, spotted as may be; To learn by fair industry.

Makes the wise, healthy man, The plough, the axe, the shuttle ply, Like Brother Jonathan.

He's a proud, well fed fellow, And full of grateful glee, Will work and sing right mellow, Whether on land or sea, Lo build his own house or barn, I guess he knows the plan To spin, weave or die yarn-Handy Brother Jonathan,

At prayers, or mercy-making His heart is just and good He thanks his God! whilst enting His own rich lusty food;

To turn bowls and dishes : To make a pot or pan-Ha ha-these are the riches; Of Brother Jonathan.

He is a roaming pedlar? To sell his goods and wares But is no busy meddler; With other men's affairs-To barter or exchange truck-Ha ha-he knows the plan. To touch the rhino calls it luck.

Sly Brother Jonathan. The blue sky his Almanack Whilst fishing on the main To him the ocean's but a lake Traversed o'er and o'er again-

The seal, the whale, the sea cow Fly from him if they can-The harpoon flashes from the prow Unerring Jonathan.,

For grog-drinks their own cider Nor clime nor scurvy dread-To his ship what a provider Ho, she sails from Marblehead, The" Washington" they call her, Skims the ocean like a swan Pack the white canvass on her-Boys! for home cries Jonathan,

Shame Sirs! let not Enrope know ()ur 'Union' broke by strife-The satellites of Kings will crow Over fair freedom's life-No liberty e'er prospered We appeal to Uncle Sam! Unless industry's fostered Like Brother Jonathan's.

Cities, towns and commerce sprung From such like sires as those Proud science a rich lustre flung-With all that Bowditch knows-From Yankee-land this knowledge-Thro' desert wilds has ran Ho respect this youth from college
