Centreville Times, AND EASTERN-SHORE PUBLIC ADVERTISER.

No. 529. CENTREVILLE, E. S. MARYLAND--OCTOBER 4, 1834. J. B. Spencer, Editor

Terms.

PER ANNUM—or
50 IF PAID IN ADVANCE.
le Papers, 6 Cents.
VERTISEMENTS of 15 lines prin- weeks for One dollar—longer ones in same proportion.
ash will be required for all advetise- ts inserted in the Centreville Times.—
inistrators, Constables, and Sheriffs ad- tising sales will be credited until the ex r of the day of sale, at which time the ey will invariably be expected from the er advertising any sale.
Subscriptions are always intended for a r, and a subscriber must notify the edi- before he can discontinue the Paper.
Letters, Communications, and Adver- ts, must come POSTAGE FREE or will not be taken out of the Post ice.

MARYLAND—Sc
Queen Ann's County Court,—
May Term 1834.

Wm. B. Kent, } Petition for the sale of the real Estate of Thomas Kent.

Ordered that the sale made and here- reported by W, H. Emory hereto- e appointed Trustee for the sale of property in the proceedings of this se mentioned be ratified and con- med, unless cause to the contrary shewn on or before the fourth day November Term next provided a py of this order be inserted in some wspaper published in the county at ast once a week for three successive eeks before the first of October next The report states the amount of sales be two hundred dollars and ninety- ve cents,
P, B, HOPPER
True copy, Test, John Tilghman cl'k of Queen Ann's county court,

Extra Telegraph.

Feeling that a crisis has arrived— hen it becomes the duty of every iend of his country to offer up his rejudices and his personal interests, so far as they are in conflict with the reat end of redeeming the Government om the misrule which threatens the erflow of the best interests of socie- , and believing that the establishment some organ of communication, through hich the advocates of constitutional w can address the public intelligence a price within the reach of every izen, is essential to its accomplish- ents, the subscriber proposes to pub- h a semi-monthly
XTRA UNITED STATES TEL- EGRAPH.
o consist of sixteen large octavo pa- s, at the reduced rate of one dol- r and fifty cents per annum, for a sin- e copy.
It is intended to constitute a medi- m through which the ablest pens may ddress the people, and all such are in- ited to contribute. It is especially ecommended to the consideration of e State Rights Societies now spring- g up in every State of the Union; and illembody the leading facts, documents d arguments, upon which the suc- ss of the principles which give them fe, depend, In a word, its great end ill be to harmonise conflicting opin- ns, and by promoting a surrender of litical prejudice and personal inter- ts unite those who disapprove of the anner in which the Government is administered in a common effort rescue the institutions of the country om the destiny which, in the opinion all intelligent and distnterested per- ons, otherwise awaits us.
With a view to enable subsequen, ubscribers to obtain the whole series first numbers will be stereotypedt new editions issued as the sub- riptions may be enlarged.
Editors with whom we exchange ill do us a favor by noticing this pro- osition, and all persons who desire its ccess are requested to obtain subscri- ers.
All subscriptions must be paid in ad- vance.
The first number will issue as soon five thousand subscribers are ob- ained.
DUFF GREEN.
☞ Subscriptions received at this ce.

COMMERCIAL BANK OF MILLINGTON. } June 24. 1834. }

Notice is hereby Given, hat stockholders in the above institu- on who have not paid the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents in each share of tock held by them are hereby required to ay up to that amount on or before the st day of Oct. next. By order of Board
G. GARRETTSON csh, ug 28

300 REWARD

Ranaway from the subscriber living on Kent Island in Queen Ann's county, Md. a Negro man who calls himself

PERT JOHNS.

Said negro is about 28 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches high, a very bright mulatto, with prominent features, and hair nearly straight; he has the habit of shaking his head a little when talking to you—is rather slender, and carres himself tolerably erect when walkiing. His clothing when he went off is not known, as he absconded during the Holydays, and it is probable he had on his best suit, he may however have taken other clothing with him and will change them to suit circumtances.

The above reward will be given if taken out of the State, and 200 dollars if taken in the State and all reasonable expenses paid if delivered in any jail, in Maryland.
SAML. A. CHEW
july 12th 1834. Kent Island, Md.

Mercantile Notice.

JOHN D. LINDSEY,

Respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he still continues to carry on the Mercantile Business at the stand formerly occupied by J. & W. Lindsey, and he trusts his friends will not neglect to give him a call and examine his goods. He is determined to sell unusually low for CASH or country produce June 8, 1834.

Farm Wanted,

For the ensuing year, the rent to be paid either in grain or money, the best references and the best security will be given for payment of the rent: apply to the editor.
august 16.

Last Notice.

IN consequence of the absolute necessity of closing the business of the late firm of Edward Clark & Co; all persons indebted for LUMBER to said firm are hereby notified that unless immediate payment be made to the subscribers, their accounts will be placed in an officers hands for collection.
WM. H. EMORY
THO. C. BROWN.
December 21, 1833. tf

Notice.

In pursuance of a commission issued out of Queen Ann's county court to us the subscribers to divide the Real Estate of John Cummins, late of Kent county state of Delaware, deceased—said Estate lying in Queen Ann's and Kent counties in state of Marylund.—We shall meet on said Land, on Wednesday the 15th day of October next to proceed in the execution and commission at which time all parties concerned are hereby notified to attend.

Jeese Knock,
Ewd. Coppage,
Noah Merchant, } Commissioners.
Geo, N. Newnam,
Saml, Vickers,

August 2. —td

NEW FALL GOODS.

THE SUBSCRIBER has just returned from Philadelphia with a beautiful assortment of

Fall Goods :

Laid in on the most advantageous terms and will be sold at a very reduced price for CASH or country produce—among it are Handsome Cloths & Casimers & Cassinets & Mrrinos.
Flarnels & Blankets and French India and British Goods just received and well assorted

—ALSO—

A large Assortment of

GROCERIES;

Among which are superior Imperial Gunpowder Hyson

& Black Teas

Loaf, Havanna, White, & Brown Sugars, best Coffees.

Hardware, China Glass, and Crockery,

His Friends and the Public are invited to give him an early call as great bargains will be offered them ☞ All kinds of country produce taken
Wm. Stevens,
Centreville Sept, 13

TAILORING.

The subscriber has commenced the above business, in the shop recently occupied by Mr. Thos. J. Earickson—and has just returned from Baltimore, where he has spent some time with one of the most fashionable tailors in the City, to learn to cut. He has made arrangements to receive the fashions immediately after they come out, & also intends to keep the best workmen, to persons who want their work done in the best manner, he flatters himself, that he can give entire satisfaction
The publics ob't servant
Wm. F. Parrott,
C, Ville, Sept, 6,

P. S. If he should fail to fit any person who may favour him with their work, he will make them another garment or pay them money for their goods,
W. F. P.

UNDERTAKING, & Carpentering !

—o-o-o—

The subscriber, who has been engaged for the last ten years in the above business, takes this method of informing the public generally, that he is now prepared to do any work he may be favoured with. He assures all those who may be under the painful necessity of calling some one to attend funerals, that he will do every thing necessary for such an occasion—he has a good two horse carriage and will send as usual, coffins to any part of the county, free of charge, and will when practicable give his personal attention,

As I intend to keep for my assistance an experienced hand, I flatter myself from past favours, that I shall still be encouraged by a generous public.
EBIN COVINGTON
C, Ville, Oct. 26. tf,

NOTICE.

The subscriber intends removing from the County in a few days, & takes this method of informing persons indebted to him that he has left his accounts in the hands of Mr. John McFeely and requests all persons owing him to call immediately on Mr. McFeely and pay off their accounts. If any should neglect this notice, he will be under the painful necessity of placing their accounts in an officers hands to be dealt with as the law directs.—He embraces this occasion to tender his sincere thanks to his friends and customers, for the very liberal encouragement they have bestowed upon him, and would inform them that he has rented his shop and sold his fixtures to Mr. W.F. Parrott, a young gentleman well known for his sobriety, industry and attention to business, and would recommend him as being highly competent to cut and make in the best manner.
Tho, J, Earickson.
C. Ville, Sept, 6

IN CHANCERY.

Queen Anns County Court.
May Term 1834

Gideon Emory
vs,
Ewd, Sudlers heirs } Ordered that the sale made and herein reported by William H, Emory heretofore appointed trustee for the sale of the property in the proceeding of this cause mentioned be ratified and confirmed unless cause to the contrary be shewn on or before the fourth day of November Term next, provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in the county at least once a week for three successive weeks before the first day of October next, the report states the amount of sales to be two thousand seven hundred and forty five dollars and fifty cents,
P. B, HOPPER,
True copy test, John Tilghman cl'k of Queen Ann's county court.
aug 30

☞ Cash for Negroes,

—oo—

The subscribers wish to purchase a number of likely young

NEGROES.

of both sexes, from the ages of twelve to 30 years; for such they will give the highest cash prices. Persons wishing to dispose o their slaves, will do well to call on Jas, M, Knight, at Mr, Reese's hotel in Centreville who will attend immediately their calls; or a line addressed to him will meet with prompt attention.
C, S, & JAS. M. KNIGHT
march 1st 1834.

MARYLAND.—Sct.

Queen Ann's county Court, as a Court of Equity.

James Hopkins and others } May Term 1834
vs.
Mark Benton's heirs }

Whereas a law was passed by the General assembly of Maryland a assission of the same for the year eighteen hundred and thirty one, to appoint a trustee for the sale of the lands of a certain Mark Benton deceased according to the terms of said law—and whereas the money arrising upon such sale was deposited according to the provisions of said law, by order of the said court in the union Bank of Maryland at Baltimore, of which deposit the said court are required to give notice in a newspaper by them to be selected, as also give notice to all persons having any claims to any part of said money that they may file their petition in Queen Anns county court by a day named, stating how he or she is entitled to the same and the proportion claimed, that after said day the court shall proceed to decree a distribution of said money to such person or persons as to them may appear legally entitled to the same.

Notice is therefore given, that the sum of Fifteen hundred and seventy-five dollars and twenty nine cents the sum of money arising from the sale of the lands of Mark Benton deceased has been by order of this court deposited in the Union Bank of Maryland at Baltimore, and all persons having a claim to said money are hereby notified to file their petition in Queen Anns county court on or before the first monday of November next, stating how he is entitled to the same, and the proportion claimed, after which term said court will proceed to decree a distribution of said money to such person or persons as to them may appear legally entitled to the same.

Ordered that this publication be inserted in the Centreville Times at Centreville, and National Intelligencer at Washington, for three successive weeks previous to the first monday of November next,
P. B. HOPPER.
True Copy—Test
JOHN TILGHMAN, Cl'k.
of Queen Ann's county Court.
September 6th.

NEW GOODS!

For Fall use.

W. H. Emory,

Takes great pleasure in informing the public that he has just returned from Philadelphia with seasonable FALL Goods Selected with great care and attention from the latest arrivals—he trusts his customers and the public generally will give him an early call, as he is determined to sell unusually low.
His stock embraces CLOTHS & CASIMERS &c (cheap)

Silks, Calicoes, Merinos, Circassians, Blankets &c

ALSO

FRESH GROCERIES
QUEENS-WARE,
HARDWARE, CUTLERY, &c.

He has also on hand Meal Flour Oats Corn, Rye Rye Flour Buck-wheat Flour & Family Flour—Butter, Cheese, Water & Butter and Soda Crackers, Lisbon Sweet and Port Wines and Cider—Lard &c
All kinds of country produce will be taken in exchange for goods, and the highest prices allowed.
Centreville Sept r 13

IN CHANCERY.

Queen Ann's County Court,—
May Term 1834

Selah Tucker
vs,
Samuel Straughn, } Ordered that the sale made and herein reported by William H. Emory heretofore appointed trustee for the sale of the property in the proceedings of this cause mentioned be ratified and confirmed unless cause to the contrary be shewn on or before the fourth day of November next, provided a copy of this order be inserted in some newspaper published in the county at least once aweek for three successive weeks before the first of October next, the report states the amount of sales to be three hundred and eight dollars.
P, B, HOPPER,
True copy Test, John Tilghman cl'k, of Queen Ann's county court.

Baseness of sporting with Female Affection.

Man cannot act a more perfidious part Than use his utmost efforts to obtain A confidence, in order to deceive!

Honor and integrity ought to be the leading principles of every action in life These are virtues highly requisite, notwithstanding they are too frequently disregarded. Whatever pursuits individuals are in quest of, sincerity in profession, steadfastness in pursuit, and punctuality in discharging engagements are indispensably incumbent. A man of honest integrity, and uprightness in his dealings with his fellow creatures is sure to gain the confidence and applause of all good men; whilst he who acts from dishonest or designing principles, obtains deserved contempt.—No one ought to make any offers or pretensions to a lady before he is, in a great measure certain that her person, her temper and her qualifications suit her circumstances and agree perfectly with his own temper and way of thinking. For a similarity of mind & manners is very necessary to render the bonds of love permanent, and those of marriage happy.

"Marriage, the happiest state of life would be,
If hands were only joined when hearts agree."

The man of uprightness and integrity of heart will not only observe the beauties of the mind, the goodness of the heart, the dignity of sentiment, and the delicacy of wit, but will strive to fix his affections on such permanent endowments before he pledges his faith to any lady.

He looks upon marriage as a business of the greatest importance in life, and a change of condition that cannot be undertaken with too much deliberation. Therefore he will not undertake it at random, lest he should precipitately involve himself in the greatest difficulties. He wishes to act a conscientious part, and consequently cannot think (notwithstanding it is too much countenanced by custom) of sporting with the affections of the fair sex, nor even of paying his addresses to any one, till he is perfectly convinced his own are fixed on just principles.

All imaginary caution is certainly necessary before hand; but after a mans professions of regard, his kind services and solicitations, have made on a female heart, it is no longer a matter of indifference whether he perseveres in, or breaks off his engagement. When the matter is brought to such a crisis, there is no retreating without manifestly disturbing her quiet and tranquility of mind nor can any thing but her loss of virtue justify his desertion. Whether marriage has been expressly promised or not it is of little signification, For if he has solicited and obtained her affections, on supposing that he intends to marry her, the contract is, in the sight of heaven, sufficiently binding. In short, the man who basely imposes upon the honest heart of an unsuspecting girl, and after winning her affections by the prevailing rhetorick of courship, ungenerausly leaves her to bitter sorrow, and complaining; acts a dis honorable part and is more to be detested than a common robber.—For private treachery is much more heinous than open force; and money must not be put in competion with happiness.

A DUEL AT ST, DOMINGO.

Translated from Le Courier des Etats Unis, for the New York Times.

Some years previous to the negro insurrection at St. Domingo, aided and seconded by England, in hatred for the succors which France had supplied New England with during the war of independence, this fine French Colony was at its summit of grandeur and prosperity, Culture and industry had amassed for it more gold than its mines could furnish to the avaricious Spaniards, the metal was in active circulation, and with it advanced luxury and superfluities of pleasures. Beneath the burning sky of the tropic, passions naturally warm become inflamed and ungovernable, when wealth, which alone is able to generate them, comes and offers new incentives.

At the period of which I have to speak, 1788, the passion which predominated amongst the rich inhabtants of St. Domingo, was that of gaming. But those games where calculation or address equalized the chances of fortune, could not suffice them for their love of play; there must needs be some of those games where chance would govern every combination of the mind, at those games where heaps of gold mount upon the table, where a throw of the die would stagger a fortune, or in like manner accumulate an enormous sum. It was in dice in fact that the gamester sought for feeling capable for stimulating their dull senses, and it was not unusual to see a whole plantation, a cargoe of negroes, cast as a stake upon the fatal board. They would throw upon the table some dozen dice, mix them, and the player would pick up at hazard with his dice box three by which he would learn his fate.

Well in 1788, (trusting to my memory) there served in the capacity of captain in the regiment of Port-au-Prince, the son of a rich sugar merchant belonging to the colony, Captain Severy numbered twenty-five or six years, and in addition to being placed at the head of a large fortune, had, by inclination, embraced the military profession. None could rival his address at small sword, none surpass his dexterity at his pistol, at once brave even to rashness, he did not disabuse his fatal skill, and in general could make good sport of those who dared to measure with him; he was boasting even to insolence, had scarcely among his numerous duels received any scratches—and had already left a long track of blood in society. Still he possessed good qualities. Severy was more dreaded than beloved for his frankness—his sense of right could not restrain his fatal penchant for duelling. It is necessary to add, that he was a gamester.

One evening, in a play-house, place of resort for the gamblers of Portau Prince the inmates were amusing themselves at guardailer till the society was sufficiently numerous to animate the game. In these gaming receptacles they type guardailer, simply playing gold, (dollars) which was, in the slang phrase throwing snow balls till the party arrived. An officer of the French marine captain of a frigate, who had been residing for some time in their colony, entered at this moment into the gambling room. In passing a table where they were playing, he gave a look and perceived some pieces of money before the players.

Who makes up the game? cried a voice.

I replied the captain, (whose name has escaped me) He then came and carelessly threw a dice, then turned away to a sideboard to finish his glass of lemonade; meanwhile, the gamblers continued their play.

Commandant you have won, exclaimed Severy, who was one of the players; pick up the stakes; and he pushed towards his fortunate adversary several heaps of gold,

At the sight of this immense sum, the French officer, who fancied but to have risked a few dollars, recoiled in amazement, then pushing back the tray of gold which was presented to him; I should believe myself wanting in delicacy, were I to appropriate that that sum as having lawfully gained it. Tis but right to tell you, gentlemen that in making up the game, I thought to have risked but the moderate sum which I had perceived upon the table, I neither wish nor ought to regard that gold as my own.

Take it sir, says Captain Severy, You have as much right to it as you would have had to pay, had you lost.

You deceive yourself if you imagine that; I should not have believed my honor stained in refusing to acquit a debt which I had not contracted, and consequently I should stain it by appropriating a sum I had not gained.

You would have paid, Mr. Commandant. returned Severy elevating his voice and laying stress upon the words—"You would have paid. "Tis I who tell you"

There was in the language, and still more in the Captains tone, an idea of provocation which did not escape the marine officer. He likewise retorted in a bitter tone, and it was soon too late, when the friends of the two gamesters were willing to interfere, to prevent an awkward result. Each of the parties considered himself so grossly insulted that any medium to their respective wrongs became impossible, and a duel inevitable.

Sir, says Severy to his opponent not wishing to have over you the advantage which every body knows my address at the sword and pistol would give me