POETRY.

MY COUNTRY.

"Peace be within thy walls, and presperity in thy palaces."

God shield thee, my country, Fair home of the free! The hopes of earth's thousands Are centered in thee! In the freshness of morn, The quiet of even, The prayers of thy children Are garner'd in heaven.

And bless'd are those hours Devoted to thee, When the humblest of offerings Accepted shall be-When thy millions have knelt Round each gleaming hearth, To plead for thy welfare, Lov'd land of my birth!

Bright home of my country! Remember'd in prayer, With the thousands who treasure Their happiness there! Till the last closing scene Of peril and strife, Thy welfare shall be The sunbeam of life.

And when Time shall have summon To ashes and dust, The bands of the mighty, In whom is thy trust-Then, then may their spirits, Immortal and free, Still remain as on earth, Devoted to thee.

God guard thee and bless thee, Lov'd land of my birth! The hope of each freeman That breathes upon earth! O! green be the forest And bright be the sod, Where thy children shall worship Thy country and God!

THE MOTHER'S INJUNCTION On presenting her Son with a Bible.

Remember love, who gave thee this When other days shall come, When she who had thy earliest kiss, Sleeps in her narrow home; Remember 'twas a mother gave The gift to one she'd die to save.

That mother sought a pledge of love, The heliest for her son; And from the gifts of God above, She chose a goodly one, She chose for her beloved boy, The source of light, and life and joy.

And bade him keep the gift-that when The parting hour would come, They might have hope to meet again In an eternal home. She said his faith in that would be,

Sweet incense to her memory.

And should the scoffer, in his pride, Laugh that fond faith to scorn, And bid him cast the pledge aside, That he from youth had borne; She bade him pause, and ask his breast If he, or she, had loved him best.

A parent's blessing on her son Goes with this holy thing, The heart that would retain the one Must to the other cling. Remember!'tis no idle toy-A mother's gift-Remember, boy!
